SITTING ON SUICIDES.

Easy Day for the Coroner of Philadelphia.

National Associated Press to the Star.

PHILADELPHIA, July 8.—Mrs. Elizabeth Roof, residing at No. 612 Bridge street, committed suicide this morning by hanging herself with a strap.

The unfortunate woman was fifty-two years old and lived with her husband, who, it is said, is a man of intemperate habits, causing them to become financially embarrassed, which induced her to take her life. This morning when her husband went down stairs he found her suspended to a hook by means of a strap and dead.

The Coroner held inquests in two cases of suicide this morning. One was that of Albert White, aged 29 years, who jumped from the second story window of the Jefferson Medical College.

The other was that of Chas. H. Jackson, aged twenty-five years, who also met his death by jumping from a window in the Jefferson Medical College Hospital last evening shortly after 7 o'clock. Deceased was a sailor on board the schooner Georgia, of Ellsworth, Maine, and yesterday had a quarrel on board the vessel with another sailor.

After the quarrel Jackson cut his throat with a portion of a glass bottle, and was taken to the hospital he was deranged, and subsequently killed himself by jumping from the window.

City Commissioners.

The Committee on Grades and Improvements reported advice to the petition for the change of the grade of Lyons street, between Ohio avenue and Western terminus. Report approved.

A communication from citizens in the Twenty-fifth Ward, calling attention to the filthy condition of the streets in that Ward, was referred to the Committee on Street Cleaning.

The Committee on Grades and Improvements reported, recommending the petition of the gross earnings of the Company from March 1st to June 30th, 1879, to be $163,914.00, of which the 25 per centage due the city is $40,978.50. A check for that amount on the Franklin Bank, payable to the order of the City Treasurer, accompanied the statement.

Narrow Escape from Lightning.

Shortly after 8 o'clock this morning a bolt of lightning struck the residence of Mr. George Messinger, one of the draughtsmen in the County Surveyor's office. The bolt went through the north window of the house, which is situated on Belvedere street near the Zoological Garden, passing through the door leading to the east room and going out of the window on the south side. Mrs. Messinger was standing near the north wall of the east room and the lightning ran along her arm, scorching it somewhat. The mark left behind was over two inches in width. The shock stunned her and it took some time before she recovered. No other injury was done. A number of children playing in the lower rooms of the house were badly scared.

SEVERE STORMS.

How Hail, Rain and Wind Swept Over the Northwest.

National Associated Press to the Star.

ST. PAUL, MINN., July 8.—Heavy rains and winds visited this State yesterday. Wind and vicinity suffered greatly. The storm lasted two hours, and several houses in this city were undermined, and bridges washed away.

Disastrous wind storms swept along the line of the St. Paul & S. C. Railroad west from St. James to Windom. Reports say that nearly every house in Windom was damaged, and several houses were blown down. It is the worst storm in twenty-two years. So far as known no persons were seriously injured.

MARSHON, Wis., July 8.—Yesterday afternoon a hail-storm struck Baxter's Prairie, five or six miles west of here, passing over that and Stoner's Prairie for a distance of four miles in a track of two miles wide, doing an immense amount of damage. Hail-stones as large as a man's fist fell with such force as to knock pieces out of a board fence. Every particle of standing grain in the course of the storm was utterly destroyed. Small pigs, turkeys and chickens were killed. No human lives were lost, but the destruction to crops is immense.

Obituary.

Mr. Joseph Overberg, well-known German citizen, died yesterday after an illness of one day at his home, No. 363 West Fifth street. The deceased was forty-eight years old and born in Hanover. He came to this country when quite a youth and, after making a small fortune in California, came to this city, where he established a mineral water and soda business. His funeral will take place to-morrow morning from Holy Trinity Church on Fifth street.

Mr. Ernst F. Struble, father of Councilman F. Struble, from the Fourteenth ward, who emigrated to this country from Westphalia in 1831, died yesterday at the residence of his son, No. 124 Findlay street. The deceased was sixty-four years of age. His funeral will take place Thursday afternoon from the Evangelical Zion Church, corner of Fifteenth and Bremen streets.

Tullis Will Case.

The case of Martha Pollock against Floyd and others, the Tullis will case, was called up to-day in the District Court. The parties interested stated that they had agreed upon a settlement, acknowledging that the cancellation made on the will was done by the testator. Tullis, says that the cancellation was made to revoke the will. The Judge instructed the jury to render a judgment accordingly, which was done.

During the absence from the city of the family of Mr. Hackett, the residence No. 402 West Court street was entered by burglars who helped themselves to a gold watch and some old coins. Strange to say nothing else was taken, although plenty of jewelry and valuable clothing had been handled by the thieves. The burglary is supposed to have been committed some time last week, as the family returned yesterday and made the discovery that the house had been entered.

The Coroner held an inquest this morning on the body of George Velling, of Covington, who was found dead Sunday evening on a hill back of Hammond street, Corvillie, and rendered a verdict of death "from a pistol-bullet wound in the region of the heart. I further find that said wound was inflicted with suicidal intent, while laboring under temporary aberration of the mind."

A middle aged man, whose name we were unable to learn, created considerable excitement at the residence of Archbishop Purcell this morning by threatening to kill the Archbishop and everybody else in the house. It was evident that the man was crazy, and the officers hustled him away before he could do any damage.

The case of John H. Hackman against Henry Butcher, a suit under the Admiralty law, to eject the latter from the grounds that he was selling intoxicating liquors, was heard last evening before Squire Block and a jury, who disagreed.

The Brunswick & Balke Company, manufacturers of billiard tables, was incorporated to-day. The capital stock is $275,000, divided into $100 shares. The incorporators are John M. Brunswick, Julius Balke, Moses Bensinger, Anthony F. Troeschner and Leo Schmidt.

William Welsh, indicted for assaulting Higney Van Zant on the 24th of March, with intent to kill, pleaded guilty last evening before Judge Smith, of assault and battery. He was sent to the Work-house this morning for six months and fined the costs.

Mary Boeck, a girl fourteen years old, who had been in the State School for Imbeciles, was sent out to Longview Asylum to-day for two months, after which she is to be sent back to the State School.

The Directors of the Southern Railroad met to-day and approved of the order to
